Terry's Background

Terry spent 20 years as a youth leader in the Pacific Northwest directing youth camps in Western Washington, leading foreign and national mission trips, and motivational speaking.

He was a co-founder of Get Real Assemblies and traveled throughout the United States inspiring and challenging students to make the decisions that would drive their life in the direction they wanted it to go! To this day, Terry has former students who, recognizing his voice, approach him with stories of how a message delivered in a high school gym twenty years ago shaped the path of their life.

In 2005, Terry entered Real Estate, becoming one of the top producers in the office in the first year and was recognized at their national convention for production volume. After one year, Terry was given the opportunity to lead and turn around their failing real estate company. In 4 years as CEO/Team Leader, agent count was increased by 73%, a new business center was opened, and the team had the 2 best years of the company's history. Records were set in listings taken, contracts written, sales closed, owner profit, and profit share—all in a "down market."

Terry's primary focus as Team Leader was recruiting and retaining quality talent, training and skill development, and coaching for productivity and profitability.
